

Glitterati GETAWAYS

Make your break VIP-approved with romantic resorts that are rated grade A-list

AMERICAN DREAMERS

When you hang out in Hollywood for your day job, a week away has to wow. Katie Holmes and Tom Cruise heart NY (and each other) at The Carlyle – a Madison Avenue icon that's attracted A-listers since the Thirties (rooms from around £463 a night; rosewoodhotels.com).

Jennifer Aniston, Kate Beckinsale and Katherine Heigl are fans of California's Ojai Valley Inn & Spa – and love its Casa Elar villa, which boasts five bedrooms, live-in butlers and a £9000-a-night bill (keep breathing... standard rooms start from around £240; ojairesort.com).

Mexico's Esperanza resort hosted Gwyneth Paltrow and Chris Martin's 'moon, and has whisked couples Beyoncé and Jay-Z (far right) and Fergie and Josh Duhamel off their feet (seven nights from £2280pp, including breakfast; carrier.co.uk).

MAL-DIVAS

Gorgeous islands + gorgeous celebs = a match made in (a very gorgeous) heaven. Sarah Harding and boyfriend Tom Crane swapped partying for pampering at Conrad Maldives Rangali Island's white-sand wonderland (above; seven nights from £2973pp, including breakfast; kuoni.co.uk). Penélope Cruz checked in to Baros, which will take you and your groom to a deserted sandbank for a day of champagne, lobster and loving from £290 per couple (seven nights from £1525pp, including breakfast; sovereign.com). And Denise Van Outen and Lee Mead honeymooned at the newly opened Velassaru. You might only have eyes for each other, but the resort's been designed so the sea is visible from every angle – depending on what you get up to! (Seven nights from £1320pp, including breakfast; kuoni.co.uk) >

